Manuscript Submission

Submitted papers should be original works and should not have been previously published nor be currently under consideration for publication elsewhere. The manuscripts should be prepared in keeping with the Instructions for Authors provided on the Decisions in Economics and Finance homepage: <http://www.springer.com/economics/economic+theory/journal/10203>

All manuscripts should be submitted electronically using the journal's online manuscript submission system at: <https://www.editorialmanager.com/deaf/default.aspx>.

Authors: please select “Special issue on “Mathematical and Statistical Methods for Actuarial Sciences and Finance” when you reach the “Select Article Type” step in the submission process.

While ensuring the high quality of the works to be published, the journal will follow an accelerated review process. The first round referee reports will be completed by 31st October and the accepted papers will be available on-line on the journal's website by the end of February 2019. All papers will be refereed in the usual way.

On behalf of the guest editors,

With best wishes,

Marilena Sibillo
